

BRG and its partners are happy to announce the 23rd Microencapsulation Industrial Convention
Online convention - June 10, 2021

Welcome to the Online Microencapsulation Industrial Convention

- A few days before the convention, you will get indications how to connect to the convention.
- You will be greeted by real people to guide you and explain how to navigate between the different activities.
- The convention website is designed to allow you to navigate easily and freely between the different activities : Business-to-Business meetings (B2B), lectures and showcases.
- You can decide any time to meet other participants, or attend lectures, or visit the showcases or take a break.

Up to 19 B2B Meetings

Based on your own pre-selection among the list of participants, we will optimise your agenda for your preselected B2B appointments. You may consult any time your schedule and you will be remind a few minutes before each meetings.

Expert lecture

In parallel to the B2B, you may follow 30 min lectures from leading experts covering a large scope of the encapsulation field. If you miss one lecture to attend a B2B meeting, no problem, you will have access to it later as a podcast.

Showcase

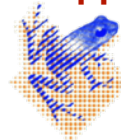

During free time you may visit virtual booths from companies showcasing microencapsulation R & D services, Equipment & Tools, Material & Chemicals. You will have access to short videos, brochures and you may request appointments with the company representatives.

Register as soon as possible to get number of appointments
